Destination: Mocona Waterfalls

Lodge

Location: Saltos del Moconá

Description

Mocona Lodge forms part of Refugio Mocona, an 8000 hectare (20000 acres) PRIVATE RESERVE that was created to preserve the jungle. 60 hectares (150 acres) are set aside for tourism. Located at the very heart of the Yaboti Biosphere Reserve, it constitutes one of the few remaining areas in the Southamerican jungle that is inside a subtropical ecosystem. At Mocona Lodge you will feel and enjoy the jungle in all its essence! You can spend the day along different trails, among cascades, native vegetation and come across many birds and butterflies. You can also enjoy adventure activities and listen to ancestral legends by the fire or while you have something to drink. The sound of the Uruguay River invades the place and invites you to relax in an atmosphere where nature reigns!
